

Next Steps for Information Sources and Assessment

David Annandale

SIS Retreat March 27th, 2018

- Determining what information is already available for us to use in the SIS?
- What necessary information could be missing, and how can we go about finding it?
- Taking stakeholder inputs and refining the assessment.

March – April
2018

- Further refining information needs and developing parameters/indicators.
- Possible further interviews and discussions with agencies/institutions.

April 2018

- Preparing the information systems and sources assessment report >> feeding into SIS design options

May 2018