

Getting Initial Readiness Underway

Forest Day 3, Sunday 13 December 2009

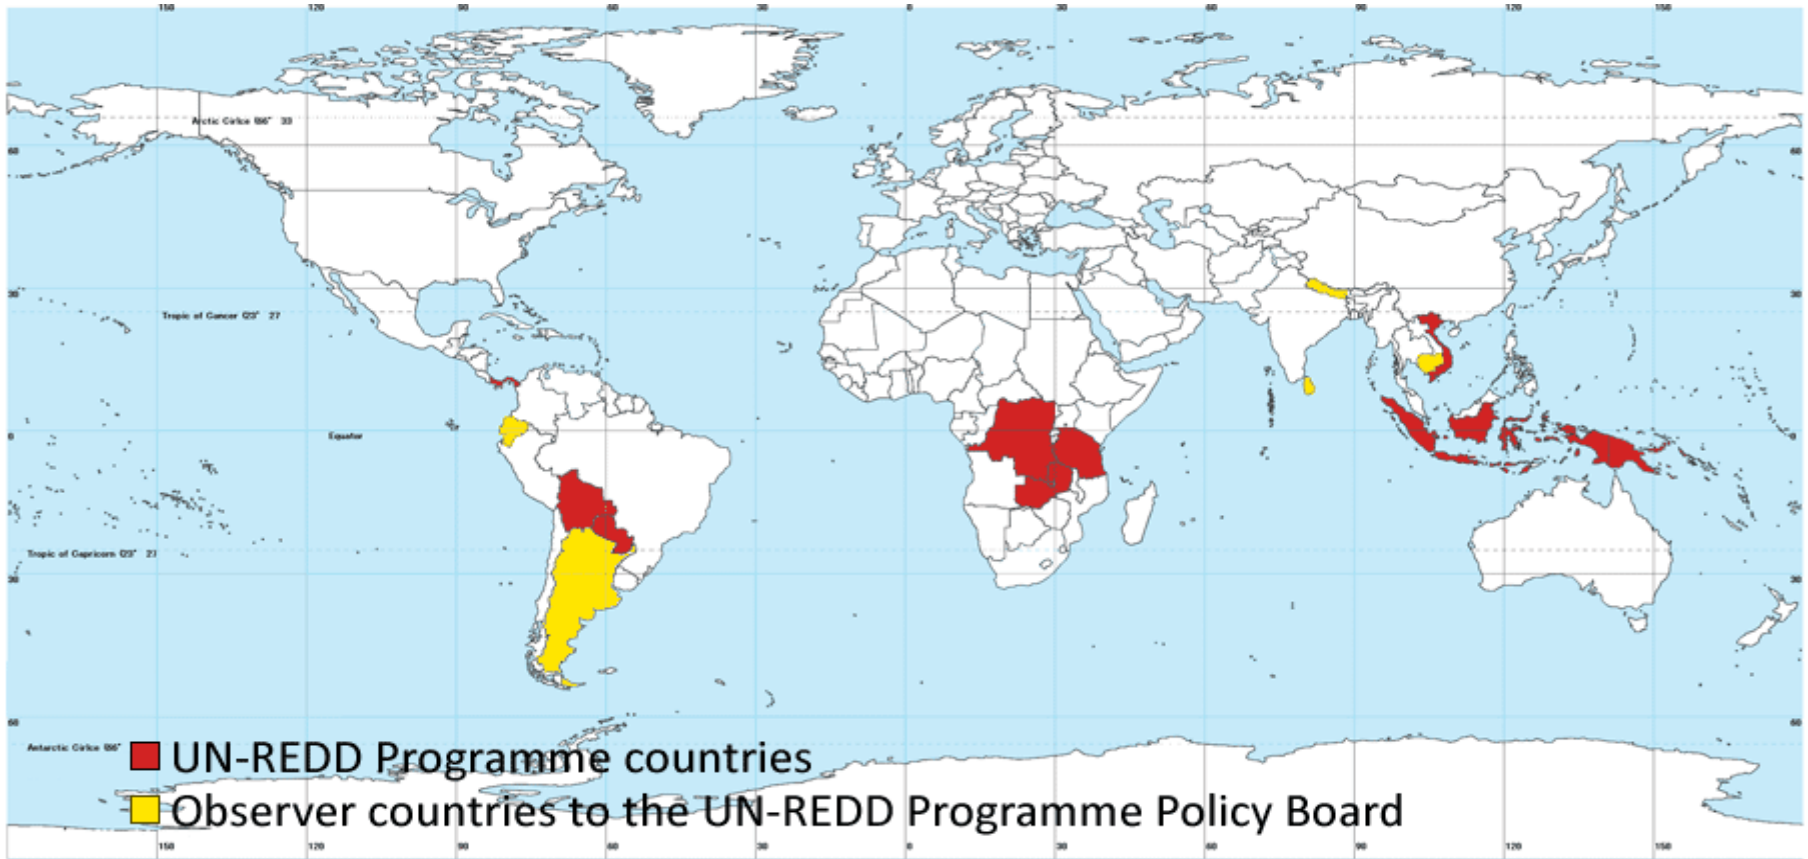

What is the UN-REDD Programme?

- Collaborative partnership
- Pledges of $106m
- First phase:
 - 9 'Quick Starts'
 - Global Programme
- Second phase after COP15

Participating Countries

Early Insights

Getting Organized

Developing REDD+
Strategies

MRV for Carbon

Readiness Management Arrangements

Start-up Activities

- The formulation of REDD “roadmaps” has greatly helped to clarify required interventions, and those for which UN-REDD has a comparative advantage.
- This has been done in PNG and Viet Nam and Zambia
- Strong emphasis on stakeholder engagement mechanisms

Organizing and Consulting

Stakeholder Engagement

- The establishment of engagement mechanisms early in the process is very important. Validation meetings before submission of proposals support this process
- The establishment of a broad-based multi-stakeholder consultation mechanism can dramatically increase confidence in the process among all stakeholders. This has been the experience, for example, in Viet Nam

Preparing REDD+ Strategies

Consensus Building

- The process of developing a REDD+ Strategy is as important as the end product
- Identifying the drivers of deforestation needs to be done in a way that leads to national consensus; otherwise no strategy or implementation plan will work.
- DRC is devoting time to ensure the assessment of drivers of deforestation serves to unite stakeholders around forest issues

Preparing REDD+ Strategies

Strategy Options

- It is important to position a REDD strategy in the context of a broader process.
- For example, in PNG a low-carbon development strategy is being prepared;
- in Viet Nam, REDD is contained within the “National Target Programme” to address CC

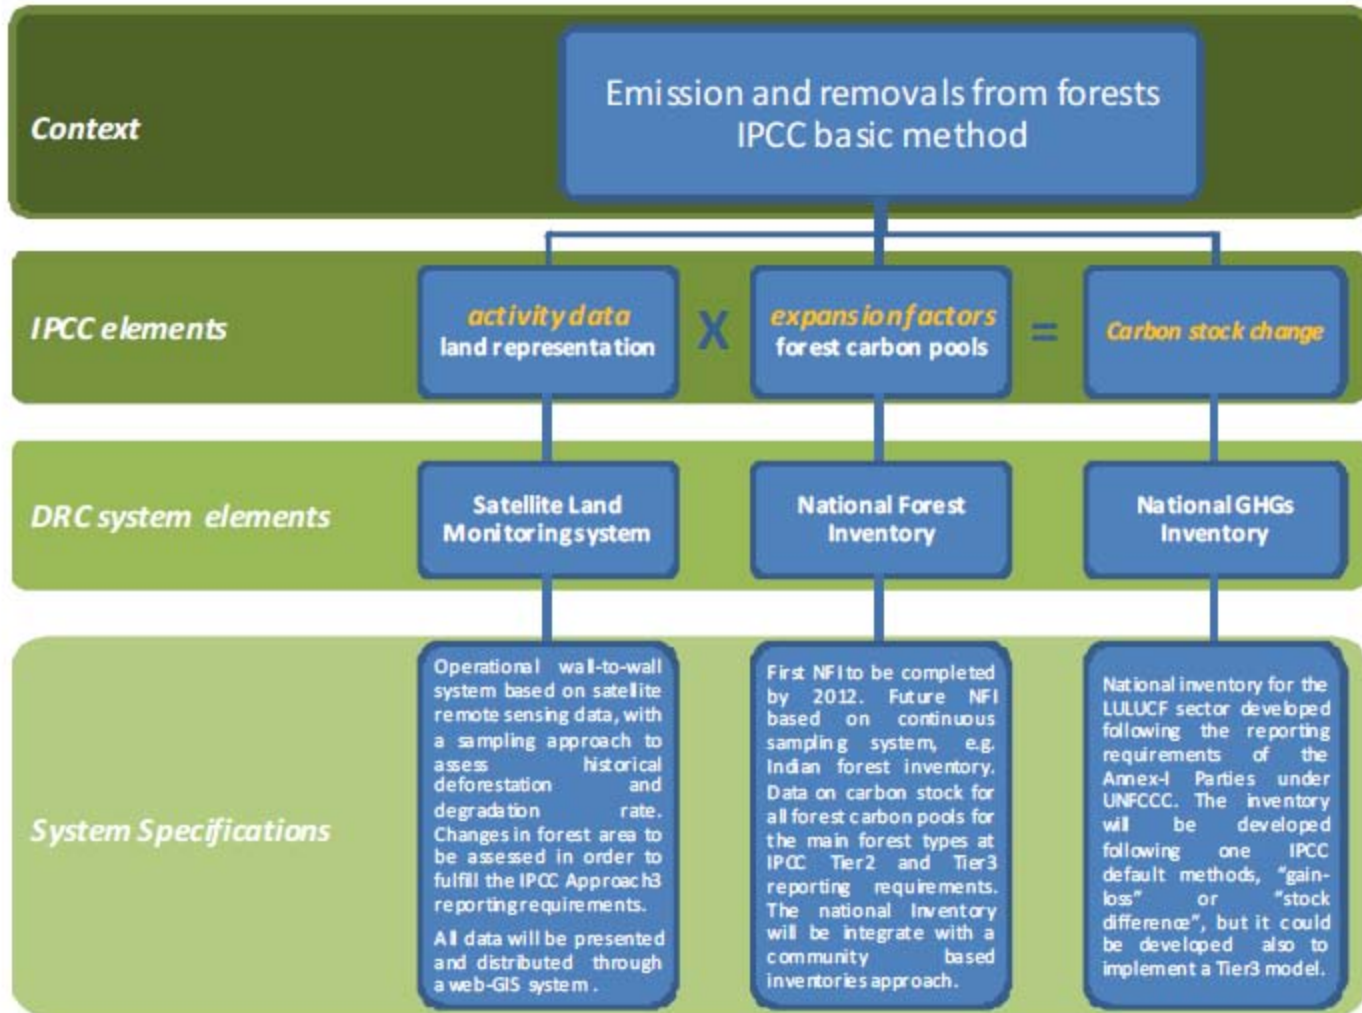

Designing a Monitoring System

MRV

- Early action on MRV is critical
- Key initial elements are:
 - remote sensing for forest area data
 - the role of the national forest inventory with regards to the emission factor
- In DRC, both components would in turn support the country's national greenhouse gas inventory.

Benefit Distribution

Welcome to the UN-REDD Programme Workspace

Policy Board members : All documents related to the third meeting of the Policy Board (Washington DC, 29-30 October) are here

TIP OF THE WEEK: Link your calendar entries to relevant documents! Click here for more details.

This workspace is the primary online coordinating center for the UN-REDD Programme. It allows registered users to stay updated on the latest REDD events, share REDD publications, download templates, participate in online discussions, check out working documents that can be edited and resubmitted, add or find contact information for UN-REDD Programme colleagues and partners, track the status of an activity under the Global Programme, post announcements, etc. The vast majority of the workspace contents is provided by users.
