

Gender Sensitive REDD+ Processes:

A Knowledge Sharing and Information Session

Policy Board 10, Lombok, Indonesia

25 June 2013

Why is gender equality and women's empowerment relevant for REDD+?

- Human Rights and international/national obligations
- More effective, efficient and sustainable REDD+ processes and outcomes
- Social and Environmental Benefits from REDD+

How can we ensure gender sensitive REDD+ processes?

- Draft Information Note on Gender Sensitive REDD+
5 steps:

1. Gender Analysis and Baseline
2. Gender Expertise and Partnerships
3. Effective Participation of Women
4. Gender Sensitive REDD+ Strategies
5. Monitoring and Reporting

Draft Information Note ☐ UN-REDD Guidance Note

STEP 1: Establish a Baseline through a Gender Analysis

What is a gender analysis?

Why is a gender analysis useful for national REDD+ processes?

What are specific actions in conducting a gender analysis?

STEP 2: Mobilize Gender Expertise and Create Partnerships

How can networks and partnerships help ensure gender sensitive REDD+ processes?

What are examples of relevant partners?

How can gender experts contribute to gender sensitive REDD+ processes?

STEP 3: Ensure the Effective Participation of Women

Why is participation of women essential to REDD+ processes?

How does capacity building contribute to effective participation?

What are steps to ensure the effective participation of women?

STEP 4: Ensure a Gender Sensitive REDD+ Strategy

Why should gender considerations be "mainstreamed" in national REDD+ strategy processes?

What are some key entry points to ensure gender sensitive REDD+ strategies?

What actions can be taken to prepare for gender sensitive benefit sharing?

STEP 5: Monitor and Report on Gender Mainstreaming

How can gender sensitive REDD+ processes be monitored?

What is the difference between gender-sensitive and gender-blind indicators?

What are examples of "SMART" gender-sensitive indicators?

Thank You!
