Briefing to Missions
Geneva, May 2011

UN-REDD Programme: Delivering as one UN

- Established in 2008 by FAO, UNDP & UNEP
 - Response to UNFCCC Bali Action Plan
- Supports countries in their REDD+ efforts
 - Strong emphasis on capacity development
- Always envisaged working in partnerships
- Offers Joint Programming & Delivering as One UN
- Collaborates with World Bank hosted FCPF, FIP and other institutions working on REDD+ activities, such as GEF, UNFCCC Secretariat and CBD

UN-REDD Profile

- Focuses on national & international actions
- Leverages the UN mandate, presence & expertise
- Facilitates South-South collaboration
- Emphasizes partnerships and stakeholder engagement
- Offers a development perspective - building on country development programmes
- Provides a convening and catalytic role
- Facilitates knowledge generation and sharing

Why Partnerships?

- REDD+ landscape is multifaceted and complex necessitating a range of partnerships:
 - Policy: REDD+ Partnership
 - Capacity Development/Delivery: within the UN and between the UN and other multilaterals such as FCPF, FIP, GEF, CBFF, CBD, UNFCCC , as well as with civil society, IPs and research groups
 - Funding: contributing countries – co-financing
 - Exchange information and learning with many bi-lateral initiatives

Global Programme

- Stakeholder Engagement: Guidelines on Free Prior and Informed Consent being developed based on regional consultations held in Latin America, Africa and Asia-Pacific.
- MRV and Monitoring: Technical backstopping for developing country monitoring systems building on forest inventories and including field assessments and remote sensing time series of land use in over 10 countries.
- Multiple Benefits: Spatial maps of multiple benefits potential from REDD+ in Tanzania, Ecuador, Nigeria & Cambodia.
- Strengthening National governance structures and institutions: Four countries piloting PGA

Early Lessons

- Pilots have contributed to a community of practice on REDD+
- Rigorous stakeholder engagement and tapping into local knowledge is important
- Expeditious access to funds critical to capacity development
- Country leadership key to national coordination
- Implementation taking longer than originally thought
- National context and capacities critical
- Manage expectations that REDD+ can deliver benefits immediately and to all countries equally
- Linkages to other sectors and national development strategies

UN-REDD: Looking ahead

- Five Year Strategy Endorsed by Policy Board:
 - a shared vision to respond to country needs
 - Highlights importance of strategic partnerships
- A growing Programme: need to scale up in response to new demands:
 - Mobilizing adequate funding to support country capacities to prepare and implement REDD+ strategies
 - Ensure adequate capacity to support country demands
- Emphasis remains on action on the ground
- Cancun Agreements provide political impetus and technical guidance
